The Wellis® Difference

Whether you've just started your search for the ideal hot tub, swim spa, or sauna or you've been on the hunt for a while, you likely have an image in your mind about the qualities you want in a backyard recreation product. After all, these products are an investment. You want them to live up to your expectations.

At Wellis[®], we design and build hot tubs, swim spas, and more that not only meet expectations, they completely exceed them. In fact, we've been receiving accolades in the European market for nearly a decade. Now that same fine European styling, innovation, and construction is widely available to the American market with the launch of Wellis USA.

So if you haven't yet found your dream spa match, sit back and let us tell you a little more about "The Wellis Difference".

Quality

Right from the very beginning, Wellis has based our mindset around creating quality products that go above and beyond. Wellis spas not only look high quality, they provide premium performance.

Wellis has grown substantially from the company's inception in 2003. Through a dedication to quality and innovation, Wellis has grown to be the leading hot tub manufacturer in Europe and is now a global company with a strong presence in the United Kingdom and the United States as well.

Continuing to rack up awards for excellence at exhibitions around the globe, Wellis' commitment to quality is evident in all aspects of the business. Wellis is also a proud member of BISHTA (the British and Irish Spa and Hot Tub Association), who hold all of their members to the very highest of standards.

Availability

Wellis is on the cutting edge of hot tub manufacturing. The company has already built the business up to be the largest spa manufacturer in Europe and has been selling to the US market through partner dealers for some time.

Through two state-of-the-art factories in Dabas and Ózd that employ more than 1300 people, Wellis uses high-tech equipment and production techniques to keep up with ever-increasing demand for these innovative, high-end hot tubs, swim spas, saunas, massage chairs, and accessories.

With a refined manufacturing process that is mainly automated and a large, dedicated team, the factory is able to produce consistently high quality recreation products at a staggering pace.

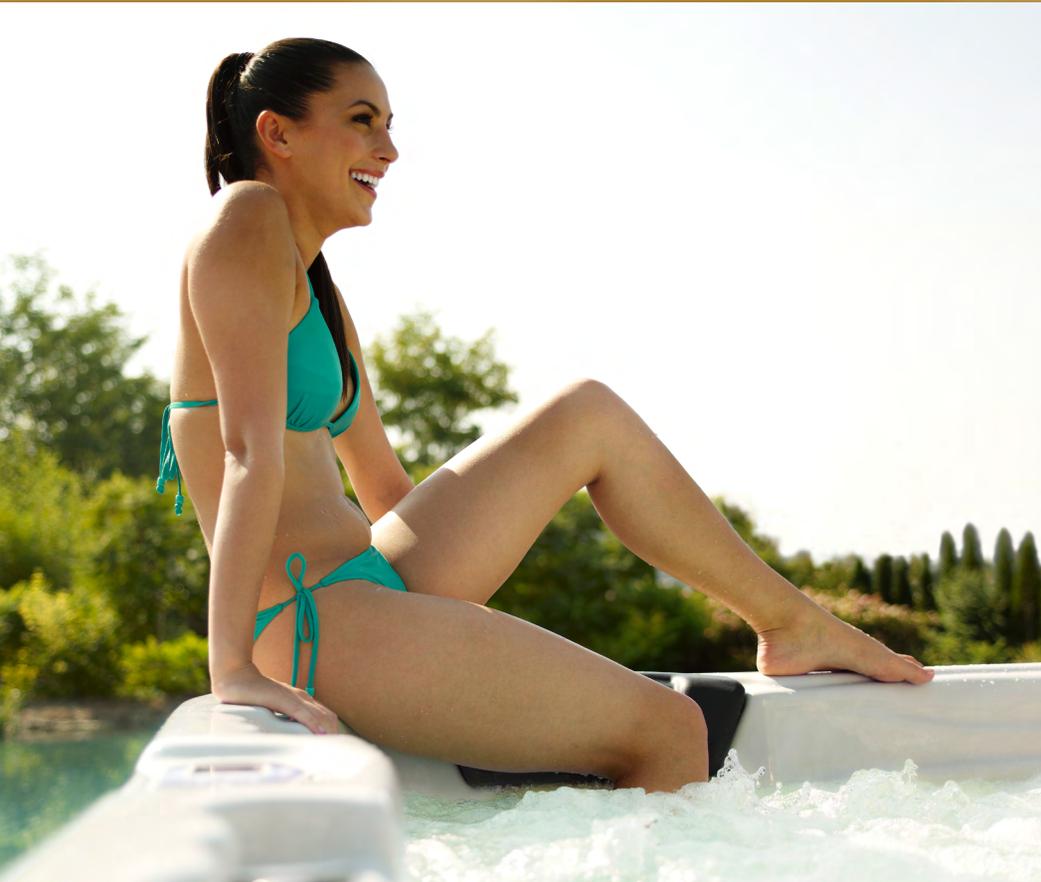

Durability

If you are considering a Wellis Spa product you can rest assured that these units are built to last. While much of the manufacturing process is automated, Wellis is committed to innovation and quality. The equipment used to build Wellis products is state-of-the-art and is regularly updated to reflect new processes, concepts, research and development.

In addition, Wellis' team of design engineers, factory workers, and more are consistently testing the products and refining the process to ensure every Wellis product is top-of-the line and made to stand the test of time.

Manufacturing Process

Wellis spas are built using cutting edge robotic technology. This precise process results in products that are built efficiently and are of consistently high quality. However, using advanced technology does not completely eliminate the need for a human component to the process. There are plenty of quality checks along the way.

Once built, every Wellis spa is filled with water and fully tested to ensure that it is operating as it should. No spa leaves the factory unless it has met the rigorous testing standards set by the company.

As a proud member of BISHTA, Wellis is required to meet or exceed a high level of excellence in the areas of health and safety. Those considering a Wellis spa can take comfort in the knowledge that BISHTA members are obligated to adhere to a stringent set of standards and code of ethics.

Effectiveness

Wellis is dedicated to health and wellness in all respects. After all, “well” is in the name. Hydrotherapy and massage are known to offer substantial health benefits in a wide range of areas. From better sleep, to stress relief, boosted circulation, muscle recovery, and much more – spas have a plethora of wellness perks.

That said, not every spa is a well-built, luxury spa. Wellis offers only premium spa models, designed to truly perform and to meet a wide range of health and wellness needs. With such offerings as ergonomically designed, adjustable water jets, exclusive chromotherapy LED lighting, enhanced-power massage pumps, aromatic therapy, and more, a Wellis Spa is sure to exceed expectations and wellness goals.
